Building Guttled and Practically All Equipment of Trinity Episcopal Church is Destroyed — Fire Discovered by Driver of School Bus.

BUCKINGHAM, May 15—Fire of undetermined origin gutted the picturesque and historic Trinity Episcopal Church, here, this morning. The fire was discovered by Harry Lake, driver of a school bus who was passing at eight o'clock. The fire had evidently been smoldering for several hours. The building is heated by gas. Fire companies from Doylestown and Lahaska were summoned. The loss is covered by insurance, states the rector, the Rev. Rodric Pierce.

FOLLY OF "PLANNING"

Many elements in the present world situation show how utterly silly it is to try to build a national government on the theory that a horde of bureaucrats can "plan" the country's economy, future and control.

In the old saying, "Man proposes and God disposes." The former conviction, which virtually everyone shared, that man was the child of God, and that His infinite mercy and wisdom had to be relied upon in many phases of human affairs, has retreated under the teachings of Communism.

Communism is an anti-Christian, anti-church, anti-religious and Godless political creed. With supreme egotism, the Communists say in effect that "God has made a mess of things, and it's time for us to take over."

There are several things wrong with this statement; but one of the most seriously wrong is the fact that the human mind has no way at all of being sure of what is going to happen in the immediate future—let alone months and years from now.

Yet the demand for bigger and better "planning" schemes continues to be made. Planning of this type is the basis of the various welfare-state, socialist, dictatorial and collectivist experiments going on everywhere—including the United States of America.

The sheer impudence of "experts" trying to "plan" the future of a great nation, when the wisest people in the world couldn't begin to make the predictions which these bureaucrats toss out off-handedly, hasn't yet exploded the myth that there must be "something in" the idea of mass planning.

The worst breakdowns of the Communist and Communist-tinged experiments lie in the fact that the plans which the planners made didn't work out the way they expected.

For example: Over in Great Britain, which has sunk to that Empire's lowest ebb after two years of Socialism, the Labor Government gazed into its crystal ball last autumn, and made its "plans" for the country's economy over winter.

From the crystal ball or elsewhere, they decided that the winter was due to be mild. They made all their plans accordingly. They sold some of their precious coal abroad, they tightened up on its use at home, and they embarked on their grandiose "export or die" program. Besides, didn't they have a drawing account on Uncle Sam for plenty of money to tide them over?

TRUESDAY, MAY 15, 1947

NOT ALL IN SAME BOAT

John L. Lewis is a man of cunning—whatever else may be said about him—so he must see the point that the southern coal operators make when they reject the idea of industry-wide bargaining. No doubt he would like an agreement which could be reached in one series of negotiations and which would cover the entire country, but he knows that this result would be possibly disastrous to a substantial segment of the mining industry.

The South has a good case for preferential treatment. Its mines, for the most part, are located far from their markets and the consequent higher freight charges weaken its competitive position. The further fact that southern mine labor is generally less productive is another consideration. Nor will it do to overlook the circumstance that the lower cost of living in the South reduces somewhat the validity of the southern miners' claims for an absolute equality in wages with their fellow workers in the North and West.

These arguments apply of course in some degree to all businesses which operate the country over and they refute with clear and compelling force the current demand by labor for industry-wide adjustment of pay scales. I, Mr. Lewis or any other union leader insists that every section of the nation pay the same wages he either invites a certain strike or takes a step toward the destruction of a part of an industry upon which so many of his followers depend for their livelihood.

Lewis, while committed to the principle of industry-wide bargaining on most matters, will appreciate the reasoning behind the position of the southern operators if he is wise. The nation will tolerate no new coal strikes at this point in its recovery program.

Thousands of men and women in service uniforms, including commissioned officers, paraded in New York's Communist May Day celebration; pictures taken by order of the House Committee on Un-American Activities disclose. That should start a new smear campaign against the committee.

Yellowstone Park has been opened for the season, and attendants predict a record 800,000 tourists will invade it this summer. In a few more years it may be necessary to install traffic lights and parking meters.

The old Cheyenne-Deadwood stage coach will be revived for one run, as a stunt to advertise a movie, carrying spare horses in auto trailers. The old-timers will never know what they missed by being born too soon.

If spring, more fickle than usual, doesn't soon decide to return to stay, it might as well call the whole thing off until next year.

Some people have the courage of their convictions, but most fraternalists today have the courage of other people's wealth.

But their plans developed one tiny flaw—in itself neither surprising nor otherwise seriously important; but enough to wreck the entire program.

The winter wasn't mild. Instead, it was a series of blizzards and floods. Coal ran out, and the entire program bogged down. Apparently the weather man had very little sympathy with the Socialist blueprints.

The weather is a profoundly important factor in all long-range plans. Upon the weather depends the food supply—and how can governments plan anything if they don't know whether food will be abundant or scarce? A great many million forgotten graves in Russia, holding the bodies of those planned by the Communists into starvation, are mute evidence of how hopeless this type of planning really is.

There is another great question of the times in this country where planning would be wonderful—except that it seems hopeless to bring the forecasters into agreement; let alone be sure they are right.

Is a depression due this year, or isn't it?

Whichever side you choose, you can find plenty of those who call themselves "experts" who are in your corner. But you can find other experts who dispute whichever side you are on.

The Wall Street view seems to be that the future is bleak. The Exchange figures have slid down irregularly for weeks. On Tuesday they reached new lows for the year. The few recent rallies have been short-lived.

England and Russia are building their entire foreign policies upon the predictions of their financial experts that America is due for a heavy slump—if not worse, a new depression.

On the other hand, regardless of the warnings heard in many places in this country, the President's budget plans are based on a continuing level of business activity, and he has indicated that he wouldn't be surprised to see it get still better. A sharp slump would destroy his whole fiscal program, and return national economy to about where it stood after the reaction of 1937—worse off than ever, with the public debt at new record highs, and nothing at all in sight as a possible agency of rescue for the New Dealers except a further venture into militarism and controls.

There is an interesting point about the present situation. Our stage of business activity can hardly stand where it is—it's going to get much better or much worse. If it gets better, fine and dandy. If it gets worse, there simply is no bottom at which anyone can predict it will come to rest. Our basic monetary situation is so bad that a new depression might break all records, and lead to anything.

The situation is not unlike that of 1929, when we were about to skid into a Depression—though hardly anyone knew it.

At that time, some economists were warning of trouble ahead, though few of them foresaw the scope and depth of the depression which they expected. As for the American people, until October of that year they were so busy with a spree of speculation that no government on earth could have convinced them that the bubble was about to burst.

The New Deal boys, who have been running the country's economy since 1932, were as unaware as anyone else that a world-wide depression was about to catch up with Uncle Sam in 1929. Even in 1932, President Roosevelt ran for office, not on the basis of promising rapid inflation and gigantic spending, but on the promise that he was going to cut the cost of the Federal government 25 per cent and "stop the deficits."

The whole structure of the New Deal, like other Socialistic schemes of government, has been built on the theory that "experts" can predict and plan.

The fallacy of this approach can be shown in many fields, but in none more clearly than at this critical moment, no "planner" alive in this earthly sphere knows whether we will be prosperous or in the midst of a depression six months from now.

Inside Your Congress

work of a carpenter or mason or plumber.

Or, putting it a bit differently, the teacher, preacher and white collar worker is asked to give up three and a half years of his life to pay for one year's work by one man. Even this does not tell the whole story. The savings which thrifty people have been laying away as a "nest-egg" were accumulated when earnings were half the present rates. So, to get down to the brass tacks, prospective home builders, who have nothing but their savings with which to build, are asked to turn over six or seven years of their past labor for one year's labor by one man.

Well, they won't do it. And that is why we are facing a recession, depression, or "what-have-you." Labor union leaders are pricing their own members out of future jobs. Charge up the on-coming let-down to labor monopolies and a federal Administration that is wasting America's wealth as the Prodigal Son blew in his father's inheritance.

Afraid to do the necessary surgery, the Administration resorts to exhortation, soothing syrups and chin-plasters. It is strong as horseradish for "public housing," low interest, 90% mortgages and 30 years' time on rattle-traps called homes.

Meantime, it promotes wage boosts and threatens to veto a labor reform bill that would help to break up labor monopolies and restore a free market in the building industry.

Then take a look at taxes which this "Frankenstein" on the Potomac says must not be reduced. On a $9,000 house, it is estimated that federal taxes on all the transactions from the tree and the gravel pit to the completed house add up to 12.6%, or $1,134.00. That is the share of Mr. Truman's $37,000,000,000 budget which the new house must bear, if built.

The new labor bill says that ex-G. I.'s should have the privilege of entering the building trades without having their heads bashed in. They may join a union if they want to, but cannot be compelled to pay more than $25 as an "initiation" fee.

By the way, a newspaper distributors' union on Long Island initiates no one to its sacred hall who is not the son of a member. A court has just held that Americans not stired by members have no chance under existing law to earn a living distributing newspapers in that territory.

President Truman's foreign policy came under double attack in this country. William Z. Foster, Communist party national chairman, said here that it "points in the same direction as Hitler's." Henry A. Wallace, in Chicago, assailed the bipartisan "tory coalition" as "undemocratic, one-party government" with a place in war but not in peace.

PHIPPS, ACCOMPANIST

An organization meeting was held Tuesday evening in Bristol Methodist Church by a group of men interested in forming a glee club in the borough of Bristol.

After greetings by Russell Johnson who put forth much effort to bring about the meeting, election of officers was held with the following results: President, Harold F. Hunter; vice president, Russell A. Johnson; secretary, George Tschada; treasurer, John Conyers.

An executive committee was also elected, including beside the elected officers the following: Arnold North, Howard Smoyer and Wesley Bunting.

Charles Quigley, of Bristol high school faculty, offered his services as director, and the offer was unanimously accepted by the organization. Francis Phipps' services as accompanist were also gratefully accepted, officials pointing out the "vital part these two important positions play in success of such an organization."

After business the group enjoyed an hour in singing.

The next meeting will be held in Bristol Methodist Church on Tuesday, June 17th, at eight p. m., at which time by-laws will be presented for adoption, a name selected for the club, and an hour spent in singing.

Let's Talk Sense About Food Prices

In all the talk about lower prices, don't forget this:

Day in and day out, no retailer does a better job of keeping prices down than your food merchant. No food merchant does a better job than A&P.

We would like you to understand two important things about A&P's price situations:

Our net profit during the past five years has averaged only about 1 cent on each dollar of sales. If we were to operate our business without any profit at all, this 1 cent would amount to a saving of less than 4 cents a day on the entire food bill of the average American family.

We sincerely believe that A&P has the lowest cost of distribution of any retail business in the world. When you spend $1.00 in an A&P store, you get 86 cents worth of food and only about 14 cents goes to meet all expenses — wages, taxes, rent, light, heat and the hundreds of other expenses incidental to the stocking and operating of a modern food store — including our very small profit.

Obviously there is little "fat" in such a price structure. Our operating costs and profits are already cut close to the bone.

Merchants generally have reduced prices on many items on which they were overstocked. In recent weeks we have reduced prices on hundreds of such items. That is common merchandising practice and has no relation to a general or permanent price reduction.

While many food prices have already been lowered we must recognize that no substantial general reduction in retail food prices is possible until the cost of food to the retailer is reduced.

As any housewife knows, A&P's business has been built on the policy of selling quality food at the lowest practical price every day.

We pledge to our customers strict adherence to that policy. We will continue to lower our prices as fast as reductions in costs to us and economies in our operations permit.

A&P FOOD STORES

The Great Game of Politics

realized the importance of such a Cabinet post and President Roosevelt also had indicated interest and approval. But, while the idea is not new, the need has grown very greatly with the years. Now the Federal Government is deeply involved in the fields of health, education and security. There is no chance of its becoming less so; every chance that it will become more so. Clearly, all three subjects are related. That is too plain to need proof.

IN the Federal Government they touch one another at many points, but completely lack anything resembling co-ordination and co-operation. All three operate as independent units and, as Senator Fulbright points out, there is a well-known tendency for independent units in government to become a "little too independent." The purpose of the bill is to end this chaotic condition and bring about orderly direction in these fields. Under the new Secretary of Health, Education and Security there would be three under secretaries heading the three divisions, one experienced in the field of social security and the third a doctor.

THE argument is that this does not mean an expansion of the Federal bureaucracy nor an increase in governmental costs. On the contrary, it would be more economical as well as more efficient; "better work" could be done with fewer people; waste and duplication could be largely eliminated. Also, the contention of Senator Taft is that this, by no means, alters the basic fact, in which he firmly believes, that health, education and security of its citizens are primarily the responsibility of the states, and secondarily the responsibility of the Federal Government.

THE doctors want a doctor in the Cabinet as a Secretary of Health and do not want to be linked with education and security, though it is contended by the bill's supporters that the link is inevitable, natural and already exists. In presenting their case, the doctors stress various dangers and complications on some of which, unquestionably, they make strong arguments. However the practical point is made that what the doctors would like just cannot be done. Clearly, it will not be possible to create three Cabinet posts—or, at this session, even two. Obviously, the only proposal that has a chance of going through is the Taft-Fulbright proposal which has been shaped so as to reconcile differences with other bills and obtain the bipartisan support essential for passage.

AS things are now, it seems likely that the Taft-Fulbright bill will go through not only because of its bipartisan sponsorship but because one real piece of "social legislation" before this session ends is more or less indicated. The Congress hardly can afford to adjourn without one such law placed upon the books. At least, that is the way a good many seem to feel. Almost every other major measure is of an economic nature. For this "social" bill both parties could claim credit. Also, it would be the only important proposal of the session upon which the "bleeding-heart" Republican "liberals" could unite with the regulars.

Today's Quiet Moment

Blessed Lord Jesus, on this day when all Christendom commemorates Thy wonderful Ascension into heaven, we thank and praise Thee that Thou hast successfully finished the work for which Thou didst come to the earth, the great work of Redemption—of suffering and dying for the sins of men. We pray Thee that now since Thou hast resumed Thy rightful place at the right hand of the Father, Thou wouldst be with Thy Church, the Kingdom of God on earth, with Thy divine protection and give success to its spread over all the earth. We pray in Thy name who alone dost intercede for us being our only Mediator and Redeemer. Amen.

The building and grounds committee reported, and a plot chart of the new grounds made by the architect was displayed. The plan calls for a temporary football playing field on the new grounds for fall use.
An interchange of pupils is planned for next fall at Trevoze and Penn Valley schools. The plan is to take children of grades five and six from Penn Valley to Trevoze building; then take pupils of one entire grade (possibly the fourth) from Trevoze to Penn Valley. This, it is believed, will ease the crowded conditions. An additional bus is to be secured to care for these pupils, and also to alleviate the overloaded condition of buses at present, likewise to care for some pupils not transported by bus at present.

Webster with Mrs. Roland Scribner as co-hostess.

The picnic will include Ladies' Aid members and their families and will be in the form of a covered dish outing. Mrs. William Turner was named chairman of the committee in charge by Mrs. Boyd Omang, president. Assisting her will be Mrs. G. A. Japchen, Mrs. Harry Claus and Mrs. Edward Davis. Current Exhibitions Made of Fine Craftsmanship In the State

ONE NOW IN PHILA.

(Prepared for The Bristol Courier by the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce.)

In both the East and the West of the State current exhibitions of fine craftsmanship by Pennsylvania workers emphasize the rising interest being taken today in the production of beautiful handmade objects.

The second annual exhibition by the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen opened May 6 at the Art Alliance in Philadelphia. This exhibition presents a good cross section of the handicraft work now being produced in Pennsylvania. Every article submitted has been judged for fine craftsmanship and design and only those pieces which passed a jury of selection are shown in the exhibition.

Crafts represented in the Philadelphia show include hand weaving, metal work, jewelry, leather work, glass, decorated fabrics, bookbinding, woodwork, wrought iron and metal work. The designs range from traditional Pennsylvania patterns to the latest developments in technique and workmanship in all of these hand arts.

This exhibition is only one evidence of a growing awareness of the important place the crafts can play in modern life. They are today providing occupation and income to many people who are not able or willing to engage in the mechanical arts or who live in locations far from our State's industrial centers.

The craft movement in the western part of the State is being represented this week by the exhibition at the Arts and Craft Center in Pittsburgh in which ten organizations of artists and craftsmen who share the use of that Center have exhibited the work they are now carrying on. Adjoining the Pittsburgh Art Center is a house recently donated to the City to be used as a workshop for a craftsman's guild, a weaver's guild and several other similar groups. Such shops have been springing up in other cities in the Commonwealth and are proving how widespread the interest has become both on the part of those who hope to earn a living through the crafts and those who wish to follow them as a means of providing objects of beauty for their homes and for their friends.

WILD GREENS MAKE TASTY MEALS AND ARE VERY HEALTHFUL

By Miss Flora-May Sagul
(Home Economics Representative)

"A kid'll eat ivy too — wouldn't you?" may be a little far-fetched but it does bring to mind wild greens which we look forward to early in spring. Dandelion, lamb-quartets, chicory, and other wild greens are ours for the picking.

The young tender green shoots and leaves are chock full of good nourishment. Because of their high iron content, greens readily take the place of that old sulphur and molasses tonic. In addition to iron they top the list of vegetables in vitamin A content.

Wild greens may be prepared and served in many different ways so the family doesn't have a chance to tire of them. Dandelion greens make a delicious salad and it's easy to prepare. Just clean the greens well, cut up, and add your favorite dressing. Usually dandelion greens are tastier with a hot sour salad dressing.

Another way to prepare dandelion greens as well as other kinds of greens is to cook them until just tender in a small amount of water. Season with butter or a cream sauce or hot French dressing and serve.

STREETS IN NEWTOWN WILL BE RESURFACED

End of Creek Pollution is Sought; Police Report
Is Received

FIVE ARRESTS MADE

NEWTOWN, May 15 — Newtown borough council street committee has asked council to request bids for tar and stone for resurfacing of the borough streets. The same committee, at a recent meeting, reported erection of a fence at the bridge on Barclay street.

The council also received a resolution from the board of health in appreciation of the services of the late Stephen M. Vandegrift, for many years health officer and secretary of the board of health.

Acting under reports of officers, the committee council authorized the borough treasurer, W. Aubrey Murray, to borrow $1500 from the Newtown Title and Trust Co. in anticipation of 1947 taxes due July 1st.

Burgess Scott presented the police report showing seven investigations and five arrests for various minor offenses.

Warren Carter, who lives on Brookside Farm, adjoining the borough, complained of pollution of Newtown Creek and presented some pictures he had taken showing where the pollution occurs and asked that steps be taken toward abatement of the nuisance.

The question of a traffic light at the corner of State and Washington avenue was raised by William R. Stuckert. This matter had been brought up before and the two streets are part of State Highway and had been referred to the State Department. Permission was then refused because of insufficient traffic to warrant it.

Chief Ettinger of the fire company reported the company had answered six alarms, none of them in the borough.

The property committee reported that a new truck was needed for street work. Specifications were ordered drawn up and bids will be received following advertisement.

PROCESSING TIME CUT FOR VEGETABLES VERY LOW IN ACIDS

By Flora May Sagul
(Home Economics Representative)
There are changes this year in the timetables for processing low-acid vegetables in the pressure canner. These changes have been made as a result of research done by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, Washington, D. C.

According to the new direction, you can process pint jars of asparagus at 240 degrees Fahrenheit (10 pounds pressure) 25 minutes instead of 35 minutes. The new time for processing pint jars of green peas is 16 minutes instead of 45. This shorter processing time will give tastier canned vegetables. A complete list of the new times for other vegetables would be available from the Agricultural Extension Office, 75 N. Main street, Doylestown.

The times for processing low-acid vegetables in the boiling water bath have not been changed. Although some home canners have used the boiling water bath successfully, the pressure canner is still recommended for canning low-acid vegetables. If you have a pressure canner and use it for canning, you do so at your own risk. However, if you use the saucepan, follow the time table given for the pressure canner. Only those saucepans with a weight or gauge which indicates pressures of 5, 10, and 15 pounds should be used. Use two inches of water in the saucepan and exhaust for two minutes. After the processing time is up, let the saucepan cool slowly. Do not cool quickly as you do when cooking in the saucepan.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEREETH at any drug store—(Advertisement)

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

SEW AND SAVE. You'll have a smart, economical wardrobe by learning to make your own and the children's frocks and lingerie. Buy a simple pattern, if you're a beginner. Then snoop about the Snellenburg Yard Goods Dept. I saw two intriguing items—one, a rose-sprigged rayon, having a background of pink, white, blue or maize, is a yard wide, $1.29 a yard. Sweet for the children and dainty for lingerie. Another, a rayon with a weave similar to butchers' linen, comes in both pastels and darker shades. It is a yard wide and sells for the same price, $1.29. Now get going. (2nd fl.)

SUMMER CANDIES are at their best in the Snellenburg Candy Dept. Let me recommend the luscious "Homestyle" assortment. Listen and drool for "Homestyle" chocolate nut caramels, coconut logs (shredded coconut rolled in caramel), snotties (coconut half-dipped in chocolate), Neapolitan (chocolate flavored coconut with nougat nut centers), pistachio slices (sliced caramel coated pistachio nut nougat), and plenty more! You may have a choice of assortment or buy all one kind—at only 69¢ a pound. (1st fl.)

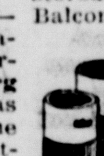

MEN'S PETS—the half-sleeved "Round-Up" shirts that can be worn for all purposes. These are California inspired, and the Snellenburg Men's Furnishings Dept. has a fine assortment of them. The fine rayon models combine good tailoring and favorite masculine shirt colors, such as tan, maize, blue, bamboo, gray, etc. "Round-Ups" can be worn with or without ties; are smart for work, comfortable for play. Sizes small, medium, large. Priced from $3.95 to $6.95. (1st fl.)

A POSTSCRIPT to my last week's description of the fine fur-storage facilities of the Snellenburg store is the news that the store specializes in remodeling and rejuvenating fur coats and fur pieces. The deluxe "processing" cleans, glazes, restores the original sheen, stimulates the natural oils, and gives added life to furs. The shop remodels styling for current smartness. All this can take place during the storage of the furs. A fur stylist will offer suggestions and give estimates on restyling, or repairs, at summer prices. By the way, for repairs of $25 or more a garment will be stored free of charge! (2nd fl. Balcony)

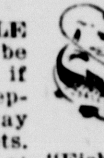

LOVELY, LOVELY—there's a sale of separate pieces of dinnerware in the Snellenburg China Dept. Buy as many pieces of any one pattern, or several patterns, as you like. These many pieces are "firsts" not "seconds" and are just about a third off the regular price! I couldn't begin to count the patterns. You can assume new sets, add to old ones. Moreover, these are patterns, many of them, that you will be able to find in stock later—not all, of course, but most. You'll find everything from tea-cups to sugar bowls and tumblers, although not every piece in every pattern. I haven't felt so good about a shopping item since before the war! (3rd fl.)

MODERN TUBS. Those of you who like to tub your own clothes will appreciate the large twin tubs on rollers. The rollers facilitate moving the tubs easily wherever you want them. They are finished in easy-to-clean, baked-on white enamel. They have individual drains; will neither tilt nor rust. Built to last a lifetime! Complete with drain hose. Each tub measures 31½ inches high, 21 inches in diameter. Buy them now at a big savings. Priced at $31.45. May be purchased on deferred payment plan. Snellenburg's House Furnishings Dept. (3rd fl.)

YOUR OWN BATTLE with moths will be greatly stepped-up if you have special moth-bags for put-away clothes and blankets. The Notions Dept. at Snellenburg has a nice line-up of paper moth-bags at 39¢ to $1; under-bed fibre chests at $2.19; large sturdy fibre, wood-frame storage chests at $2.89; wood-framed fibre storage closets at $6.59. Besides, there's a display of different moth preventives. (1st floor.)

GOIN' FISHER? If not, maybe someone else in the household is! Can you think of a better birthday or everyday gift for a fisherman than a book called "Fishing Tackle Digest," priced at $1.25? It is one of those books in modern magazine form. It is well illustrated, and is written by different authorities. Another fisherman's book, cloth-bound, is "Fly Fishing" by Steel, at $1.50. There are more such books on the fishing-corner shelves of the Snellenburg Book Dept. (1st fl.)

P.S. Do send clippings with mail orders when you can! Phone free (5c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only). Penna.—ENT. 10160; Jersey—WX-1150. Shop located Market, 11th to 12th Sts., Phila.—through to 1125-29 Chestnut St. Be hearin' from you! Faithfully, F.A.T.H.
